

Title: Research Analyst

We are seeking a Research Analyst possessing strong analytical and qualitative skills with an interest in applying economics and statistics to large, litigation-based projects.

Interested candidates must submit a cover letter, resume, and transcript (official transcripts are not required). Permanent United States work authorization required.

Essential Functions and Responsibilities:

- Understands and can apply basic economic, statistical, and econometric concepts
- Demonstrates intermediate competency in Excel and graphics
- Understands and interested in developing knowledge of statistical software and programming
- Logically grasps underlying data and work flow of a case
- Performs basic financial analysis
- Organizes and manages electronic and hard copy case materials
- Reviews documents, deposition testimony, and relevant literature for content
- Audits report and exhibit backup for accuracy and completeness
- Seeks information needed to understand the context of analyses performed
- Follows logical arguments and takes initiative to investigate further when appropriate
- Writes and communicates clearly and efficiently
- Communicates effectively with peers and senior staff

Desired Skills and Experience:

- Bachelor's degree in economics, finance, or a related discipline
- Proficiency in Excel and PowerPoint
- Knowledge of SAS, STATA, or other analytical software packages preferred
- Excellent quantitative/analytical skills
- Knowledge of econometrics and statistics preferred
- Experience working with large, complex databases preferred

Monument Economics offers a comprehensive benefits package, including company-sponsored health, dental, and vision insurance; paid leave; 401(k) retirement program which the company funds generously.

Only finalists will be contacted.