

Title: Consultant

We are seeking a Consultant possessing strong analytical and qualitative skills with an interest in applying economics, proactively contributing ideas and solutions, and leading a small team.

Interested candidates must submit a cover letter, resume, and transcript (official transcripts are not required). Permanent United States work authorization required.

Essential Functions and Responsibilities:

- Understands and can apply intermediate economic, statistical, and econometric concepts
- Demonstrates intermediate to advanced competency in Excel and graphics
- Proficient user of statistical software and programming
- Reviews case materials and recognizes areas of further research
- Assists in discovery requests and detects inadequacies in data production
- Audits report and exhibit backup for accuracy and completeness
- Develops area of focus within a case and takes leadership role in that area
- Ensures the area of focus is comprehensive, accurate, and completed on time
- Writes clearly and efficiently; contributes to drafting final work product including writing and designing tables and exhibits
- Communicates effectively with peers, senior staff, and clients
- Directs and oversees less experienced staff when needed

Desired Skills and Experience:

- Master's degree in economics or a related field with some relevant work experience, or
- Bachelor's degree in economics or a related field with significant relevant work experience

Monument Economics offers a comprehensive benefits package, including company-sponsored health, dental, and vision insurance; paid leave; 401(k) retirement program which the company funds generously.

Only finalists will be contacted.